

All hFramework-based projects for RoboCORE can be compiled directly from online platform without installing anything on the PC.

However, in order to use advanced debugging features, everything can be installed and compiled locally on Windows, Linux and Mac platforms.

You can find complet manual for all this platform here.